

How to make Toilet roll stamp flowers.

These flower stamps are so easy. It's just a matter of cutting some petals into the top third of your toilet roll and then spreading the petals out. I experimented with two different shaped petals, but of course, there's no end to what you can do. Dunk the petals into some paint and stamp them onto your page. If you're not comfortable with using old toilet rolls, don't worry. You can still buy new cardboard craft rolls from Amazon instead.

I added some yellow circles into the middle of my flowers but I also think that the yellow centre is a fantastic opportunity for some finger painting. However, if your kids aren't a fan of getting messy, then you can always use a cylindrical block instead. Those old foam blocks that you got for your kids as babies are perfect for painting with when they're older.
